

SHERIFF PASSES 'SHINERS AND STILL IN LEWIS COUNTY

Moonshiners Get Away With Their Equipment After Passing the Sheriff on the Highway.

The Vanceburg Sun says: As Sheriff Bertram was returning from delivering ballot box at Martin Thursday about 10 p. m. and when near J. F. Blankenship's he met a spring wagon and in driving to one side to let the wagon pass he noticed something in the rear of the wagon that looked suspicious in the moonlight. He called upon the driver to stop and they responded by whipping up and rattle, bang! the noise convinced the sheriff that he had let a still get away. He being unarmed, called Mr. Blankenship, who responded with a piece of shotgun, and the two gave pursuit.

From Seymour Stampler additional artillery was secured and the chase was resumed which lead up Martin's Fork about half a mile where the trail grew suddenly cold, thus baffling the pursuers and they were compelled to return minus their game.

Next day Dawson Jackson sent word that he had found a large still under a culvert where the parties, when hard pressed, had hid it the night before. It was brought here and is of about 50 gallon size, made of galvanized metal. This is said to be the huzzy in which has been brewed the hooch that has made local Quick's Run famous and a much visited place. The party was recognized and were the same seen earlier in the evening coming up the river road on their way to get the outfit to operate it near where the trail stopped.

C. & O. WATER TANK BURNS AT GARRISON.

Garrison, Ky. — At 12:30 Thursday night the West C. & O. water tank was discovered to be on fire and burning briskly. A leak soon allowed the water to pour out, and after one and one-half hours the tank fell. It seems strange to think of a water tank, filled with water burning, but this one was entirely consumed. No. 101 (express train) was delayed here because of the fire but no damage to the track occurred as the tank fell away from the track. This tank was built in 1887 it is said.

WIND STORM DOES MUCH DAMAGE THURSDAY EVENING

First Good Rain in Months Visits This Section Late Thursday—Wind Un- roofs Part of Building.

The first real rain since May visited Maysville and Mason county Thursday evening about 6 o'clock. The rain wet the ground for miles about and was the cause of much rejoicing among the farmers of this section.

Accompanying the rain was a very high wind which has done much damage in the city and throughout the county. Telephone wires in practically all sections of the county are in considerable trouble and the force of the Maysville Telephone Company is very busy repairing many breaks and straightening out many cross wires.

Probably the most serious damage done in Maysville was the unroofing of a part of the Maysville Suit and Dry Goods Company building. The metal roofing was carried by the high wind across the street and dropped on the telephone wires in front of the Gem theater.

MRS. KATE WALLINGFORD'S WILL IS PROBATED.

In the Mason County Court Friday morning a paper bearing date of August 16, 1920, and purporting to be the last will and testament of Mrs. Kate Wallingford, deceased, was offered for probate. The due execution of the paper was proven by W. P. Lindsay and D. L. Desmond, the attesting witnesses, and admitted to probate. The Bank of Maysville named as executor of the will, qualified as such with its capital stock as surety and Messrs. W. T. Cummins, Sherman Arm and C. W. Traxel were named to appraise the estate.

BIG PARK DANCE TONIGHT.

PLANS ARE MADE FOR THE BAND AT OHIO STATE FAIR

Managers Arrange Hotel Accommodations and Railroad Trip for Kentucky Cardinals.

Col. J. Barbour Russell and Mr. A. L. Glascock returned Thursday night from Columbus, Ohio, where they have been making arrangements for the Maysville Boys' Band during the Ohio State Fair.

They have secured rooms at the Chittenden Hotel. All being on the same floor, with toilet and shower bath to each room. They will eat their breakfast and supper at the hotel in a private dining room and the noon meal will be served at the fair grounds. Mr. Weber the assistant manager of the hotel paid them a good deal of attention and says when the boys arrive he will be there to see that their needs are granted.

The band will leave Maysville Sunday, August 28, at 3:40 on a special car and go direct without change to Columbus that evening. They will also have the Traveling Passenger Agent with them who will come here and make the trip to Columbus to see them safely landed in Columbus.

Mr. Glascock and Col. Russell are very much pleased with the rooms the hotel gave them as they open out on a court and if the hot weather continues they will certainly have as cool a room as at home.

Three roads have been after them to carry them to Columbus, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Big Four, and the B. & O. As yet they have not made the selection. They will leave Columbus on Friday returning that night to Maysville. One railroad says they will see that they have lunch boxes filled and coffee made for them during the trip to Cincinnati coming home and have a special car and their traveling agent to stay with them until landed at Maysville.

Mr. Wilborn is appreciating our efforts to give Columbus good music and is doing all in his power to put the Boys' Band in an attractive place. Mr. Griffith is surely doing his part in advertising them, saying the Maysville Boys' Band is one of their star attractions.

MOONSHINE OUTFIT IS CAPTURED

'White Mule' and Outfit Captured on Coughlin Farm—Bloodhounds Had Tracked to House for Chicken Thieves—Owners Escape.

Four gallons of moonshine whisky, three barrels of mash in different stages, a ten gallon milk can used for a boiler and a cannon stove which made up a moonshine outfit was found in the cellar of an outhouse on the M. F. Coughlin farm a short distance from Maysville at about noon Friday.

For the past several days Mrs. Walter Worthington, who lives near-by has been missing chickens and Thursday night twenty-five of her finest fowls disappeared. Friday morning she complained to 'Squire Fred Bauer and the Manchester bloodhounds were summoned. Captain Thurmond Sowers arrived within an hour and a half with his dogs and he together with Deputy Sheriff Devore and 'Squire Bauer, went to the Worthington farm. The dogs immediately took a trail and went to a tenant house on the Coughlin farm where Thomas Gaskins and Carl Evans live.

While the dogs were running about the house Deputy Sheriff Devore, who was standing near an outhouse, noticed a peculiar odor and asked a little girl to get the key to the cellar of this outhouse for him. When the little girl went into the residence, Gaskins, Evans and Russell Beckett, who had been talking to the officers, went into the house with the girl. She was quite a while returning with the key and the cellar was unlocked. There the officers found the three barrels of mash, stove and a ten gallon milk can but the coll was missing. The officers immediately called for the men but they had gone, having made their escape as soon as the key to the house was called for.

Chief of Police Harry A. Ort, who arrived later, soon found a piece of the weather boarding on the house loose and investigating found four gallons of the finished 'White Mule' hidden under the floor in bottles and a jug.

No trace of the chickens was found. Mr. Beckett, father-in-law of Gaskins and Evans, confessed to Deputy Sheriff Devore that the two younger men had been making moonshine at this place for about three months. He said he had talked with the men and tried to persuade them to stop their operations, warning them that they would be caught sooner or later. Beckett says that a man by the name of Washburn from Lewis county, set the young men up in the business and was coaching them on how to make the liquor. Warrants have been issued for all of the men.

RUSSIAN COMPANY TO OFFER HIGH CLASS MUSIC

Company of Russian Musicians Coming To Maysville Chautauqua This Year.

Over and over we have had a mixed quartet, a male quartet, and miscellaneous singing organization, and different forms of orchestras, in the various concerts in our community. Indeed, we have talent of our own that is very good along these lines. We have had so much of this same type, that even though it is splendid in quality, we naturally long for something new and different.

It is well known that the high grade Russian people are soulful and have fine temperaments. Some of their writers, like Tolstoy, are among the most popular known. The Russian ballet has been the highest form of that type of music and action. We are, therefore, extremely fortunate, this year, in being able to secure a company of high-grade Russian musicians for chautauqua, and we are certain that we are presenting to the community one of the rarest musical treats it has ever had. These Russians have been in the United States seven years and, therefore, understand our tastes. There are five men and one woman. It is an orchestra with vocal numbers in addition. They play some of the peculiar instruments of Russia as well as the universal. They have beautiful velvet costumes and wear the top boots peculiar to Russia. The lady member is a fine singer and several of the men are. Therefore, in a combination of both instruments and vocal music, furnished by high-grade musicians, we are certainly able to present to our people a wonderful, high-priced company of Russians.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, of Chicago, have returned to their home after a pleasant visit with the latter's sister, Mrs. Naaman Foor, of East Second street.

REMUS INVOLVED IN COVINGTON LIQUOR INVESTIGATION

Man Said to Be President of Local Concern Again Involved—Drug Firm Found Guilty.

With the revocation by United States Commissioner Elijah Hogge of Morehead, Ky., at Covington Thursday of the whisky permit held by the S. N. Well Drug Company, the name of George Remus of Cincinnati was brought prominently into the proceedings.

Mr. Remus, a lawyer, of Chicago, came to Cincinnati a year ago and bought the old Blackman homestead at Eighth street and Hermosa avenue, Price Hill. He at once began refitting the fine old residence. Upon completion of the alterations he began entertaining on a lavish scale. While a lawyer, Mr. Remus practiced his profession little and is himself the client of a legal firm.

Judge Hogge found the S. N. Well Drug Company, formerly located at 125 Park place, Covington, guilty of 'forgery and conspiracy in unlawful whisky traffic,' and ordered its permit canceled. He also ruled that the company must not be granted another permit for one year.

Not only did officials of the accused company fail to appear at the trial but they failed also to be represented by counsel. It was charged by the prosecution that the Well Company, 'unlawfully erased names on whisky permits and substituted the name of the S. N. Well Company; that the company conspired with George Remus, Cincinnati, President of the H. E. Pogue Distillery Company, Maysville, Ky., illegally to divert whisky for unlawful purposes that had been intended for medicinal use.'

Affidavits also were submitted by the prohibition enforcement officers charging the Well Company with 'aiding and abetting in the illegal diversion of whisky.'

HARMON PLANNED FOR HIS FUNERAL AND HIS BURIAL

Ohio Preacher Who Shot Wife and Self Still Says He Wants To Die.

In its account of the Harmon near-tragedy at Ellsberry, the Georgetown (O.) News-Democrat says in part:

Harmon is 29 years of age. He is educated and a man of considerable ability. His unconcernedness of what has taken place and his frank statement that he could not live unless he lived with his wife comes from the bottom of his heart. He adds that he wants her to die, because he wants also to die and he does not want anybody else to have her.

The revolver contained seven chambers and Harmon in his efforts had thrown his wife down, they having reached the outside of the home. He was over her when John Whitehurst, a neighbor, climbed a fence, and pulled him from his wife. Harmon then reentered the home and reloaded the revolver, and those who gathered heard him firing.

Tuesday Prosecutor Bagby was at the scene. He found Mrs. Harmon in a serious condition, but belief prevails that she will recover. The letters which Harmon had written, told of his intention. That a suit would be found hanging in a certain room, that his body was to be returned to Kentucky for burial and giving complete explanation. Prosecutor Bagby learned that Harmon had disposed of various articles and some he had burned the night preceding.

Since being brought to the county jail he had been getting along as well as could be expected and unless something unforeseen develops he will also recover.

New York Letter
By Lucy Jeanne Price

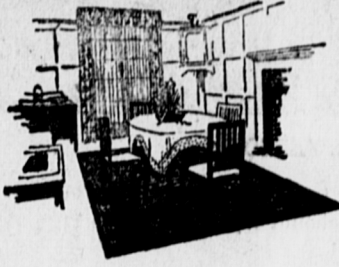

New York. — New York aviation enthusiasts are much excited over the appearance of a Fokker limousine airplane at Hazelhurst Field, Mineola, L. I., where it is being flown daily by Bert Acosta, probably the best known civil pilot in this country. This giant monoplane is the first commercial machine sent to this country by the Netherlands Aircraft Manufacturing Company of Amsterdam, and it was designed by Anthony S. Fokker, who became famous during the war for his fighting planes. At present there are several thousands of Fokker machines in daily use on the airways of Europe, and thousands of passengers are carried each week between famous continental capitals. Mr. Fokker, convinced that America afforded the greatest opportunity for successful aviation of any country in the world, decided to invade this country with his newest machines. This limousine, which carries five passengers in addition to the pilot, is the first of his commercial ships to be brought to this country and will be followed by others. By next spring the Netherlands Company plans to manufacture its airplanes here, using American materials and mechanics, the only foreign element being the design. In addition to equipping air routes between New York and adjoining cities it is expected that many Fokker machines will be used by amateur pilots, as they are admirably adapted to all the requirements

Poets are unstable creatures, anyhow, I have understood. And now here comes one—an Irish poet, at that who has turned his attention for the time being from writing verses in Greenwich Village to winning a romantic and troubadourish wage. Hugh and Malcolm Hardyman, late of Bat, England, now of 214 West Eighth street, Manhattan, also poets of a mild sort, are the sponsors and accompanists of the Celt, who are going to referee the winning of the best. The bet is for no less than $5,000 — according to the Hardyman — that the Irish poet can kiss 1000 girls between New York City and San Francisco, and the party of three has started off to win the money. Whether they will take the girls en route into their confidence and make the most of the spirit of helpfulness implanted in womankind generally, they have not announced.

The summer buyers from all parts of the continent have invaded the city and have brought a quantity of pep and enthusiasm with them. The most pessimistic of New York's business forecasters have chirped up since they began to arrive, and certainly the reports they bring warrant the cheering. Back home, they say, the folks are again "on their feet" and are demanding the goods. They are ready to buy all commodities at sound and reasonable prices. What they look forward to next winter, they say, is not a season of hectic prosperity but of the good business that attends normal times.

Rodman Wanamaker is the latest member of the Alleged Uncles club. A young man who declares himself to be his nephew has been arrested charged with passing worthless checks. As in the Schwab and Vanderlip cases, Mr. Wanamaker says he has never heard of the youth.

Along with hotels and department stores, the shoe stands of this city are coming to serve as public utilities—in a highly specialized way. They are the "foot cooling parlors" and while they are patronized for that purpose more especially by commuters, they have a fair share of patrons who live right here on the Island. About half the women who drop into the shoe stores to trip on pumps and the like have no idea of buying, says a clerk in a fashionable shop. They simply want to cool their feet. During the hot weather the percentage of these non-buyers runs high. "I can spot a woman whose feet hurt as soon as she comes in," said the clerk. "I know that she just wants her shoes taken off for a little rest. Of course I try to sell her something, but I haven't a chance. As soon as her feet are cool and comfortable once more, she decides we have nothing to suit her."
